HOST FAMILIES NEEDED

You and your family can practice the values of compassion and service each and every day when you host an international exchange student in your home. Join EF Foundation for Foreign Study and take the lead in promoting global understanding and cross cultural awareness, all while invigorating your community and its local schools.

Students are between 15 and 18 years old and come with their own spending money and insurance. Host families provide room, board, and a caring environment. Families work with a local coordinator to select a student whose interests match their own.

Since 1979, EF Foundation's dedicated team of local coordinators, volunteers, and staff has helped over 100,000 students from nearly 40 countries live and learn in America. EF Foundation's unique combination of local support and global reach has made it the largest facilitator of high school exchange for students coming to the United States.

To learn more about hosting an exchange student, please contact Patti Farmer at 541-269-5969 or [pattifarmer911@hotmail.com], or visit <http://www.fffoundation.org>.
